Mission Statement

Mudslingers Studio is designed to provide a distinctive visual art education program that will empower students to embrace a life of excellence and creativity through their artistic abilities and open doors to imagination and self-confidence. Visual art skills are worthwhile, valuable life skills grounded in discipline and a work ethic that is crucial for any craft. The instructor is a trained professional who provides a quality educational and artistic experience for each participant. Experience is gained by weekly classes culminating in an exhibition held in the Mudslingers Studio.

Candace Gooch-Ward
Instructor

Candace received her Bachelors of Fine Arts degree from Union University in 2015, with a primary emphasis in Ceramics and secondary emphasis in Sculpture. While pursuing her B.F.A. at Union, she interned at Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts in East Tennessee for three summers. She was also invited to participate in the 2014 Huntingdon Heritage Day, where she was a demonstrating potter at Mudslingers Studio. A Carroll County native and Clarksburg High School alumni, Candace is thrilled with the growing interest in the arts and the thriving arts collective founded within her home community. Candace aspires to assist and encourage students in their discovery of what incredible opportunities, experiences, and what an amazing lifestyle can be found in the profound honesty of clay as a creative medium--both in and out of the studio. She currently serves as the Art Department Secretary at Union University, and she continues to create in her home studio in Jackson, TN.

The Mudslinger Studio is sponsored in part by a grant from the Tennessee Arts Commission.
